Information

Fraternities are religious organisations devoted to voluntary works of piety and charity. Such fraternities were also founded in Liechtenstein between the 16th and 18th centuries. The Philately has commemorated three such fraternities in special stamps. The "Maria Hilf Fraternity" was founded in Balzers in 1736 (face value CHF 1.00). The stamp dedicated to this fraternity depicts an altarpiece of the Maria Hilf Chapel with Mary and the Child Jesus.

The "St. Anne Fraternity" (face value CHF 1.50) in Vaduz, which is still in existence, dates back to 1511. Devotion to St. Anne was characteristic of that era.

The faithful sought her protection after years of calamities that brought sickness, severe weather and other hardships. The special stamp portrays the statue of St. Anne which is housed in the chapel of Vaduz Castle.

Also very much alive is the "St. Sebastian Fraternity" (face value CHF 2.00) in Nendeln. Founded in 1695, it even received its own papal approval. The statutes of the fraternity have to this day remained unchanged. This association is represented in the third stamp, which shows a mural of St. Sebastian from the chapel of the same name.

The painting entitled "A Young Woman on a Balcony" (face value CHF 1.50) from the 17th century graces the new, completely steel-engraved joint issue stamp of the Czech Republic and Liechtenstein. The work by the Dutch artist Gerrit Dou (1613-1675) hangs in the National Gallery of Prague, the capital of the Czech Republic. It is one of the works of art donated by Johann II of Liechtenstein to the then private company of patriotic art lovers, the direct predecessor of today's National Gallery.

Like Liechtenstein, the Czech Republic is a landlocked country with a population of around 10.5 million. It comprises the three historic territories of Bohemia, Moravia and Silesia. Its capital, Prague, is home to architecturally significant buildings from the various epochs of European art history. Outstanding building and cultural monuments are also to be found beyond the environs of the country's capital. The Czech Republic alone boasts twelve UNESCO World Heritage Sites, one of which is the cultural landscape of Eisgrub-Feldsberg, a landscape complex covering an area of 283 square kilometres which the princes of Liechtenstein converted into a nature park in the 18th and 19th centuries.

Motorcycles from the last century round off the Collections in Liechtenstein series. In 1928, the "M. Thun" (face value CHF 0.85) rolled out of the motorcycle works in Vienna. Equipped with a 490 ccm JAP engine, the motorcycle was ridden in the 1950s complete with sidecar. The current owner, who acquired it in 1988, carried out the extensive modernisation of the machine over the following three years. The "Harley-Davidson" (face value CHF 1.00) from the year 1920 is equipped with a 1000 ccm V engine and originally boasted a magnetic ignition and a gas lamp. Over the years it was converted with original parts to battery ignition and electric light. The "Norton" motorcycle (face value CHF 1.50) with a sidecar Type Stolz dates from the year 1948 and is equipped with a Königswellen single-cylinder 30 HP engine. Its current owner has completely restored the tractor unit with sidecar to its original condition. The "Rudge" (face value CHF 2.00) is still riding the highways with its original number plate FL50. Prince Emanuel of Liechtenstein was its first owner and rode the machine, imported into Switzerland in 1933, until 1945. Since undergoing a complete restoration at the end of the 1970s, this machine, too, is still roadworthy.

Liechtensteiner Erich Allgäuer (b. 1939) was inspired to take his first steps in photography after a visit to Rome in 1960. Since then he has become passionate about photography, to the extent that he is never seen without a camera strung around his neck. Among his wide range of photographic themes are detailed images of the barks of plane trees which he has photographed all across Central Europe. In the mosaic which is typical of these tree barks, the artist was able to pick out human heads as well as whole figures and scenes. The "Woman" (face value CHF 1.00) on the first special stamp is reminiscent of a theatre character, while the "Man" (face value CHF 1.50) on the second stamp could have been an earlier emperor or philosopher. A modern "Woman with Hat" (face value CHF 2.00) from Paris of the 1920s is the subject of the third motif.

"The challenge is to detect one image among the hundreds of images on the tree and to then focus on it", says Erich Allgäuer. "Only by defining the section will the motif become visible". The artist is continually fascinated by the expressive power of the motifs, which even without accompanying text can be clearly read.

SEPAC members met on the Faroe Islands for their annual SEPAC Conference on 21 and 22 June, 2016. Besides their routine business such as discussing member states joining and leaving SEPAC and general SEPAC activities, participants were able to talk about a number of interesting topics concerning the production and design of stamps. The topics for the SEPAC special folder and for SEPAC issues in 2018 and 2019 were naturally also decided. In addition to exchanging specialist information, there was still a little time for participants to explore the beautiful landscape of the Faroe Islands.
